Seeking knowledge is implicitly connected to the attainment of morality, manners and upright character. As such, Daar Aisha is dedicated to incorporating these essential characteristics across all learning programs.

As a pioneer in traditional Islamic education, Daar Aisha College is dedicated to strengthening the connection that Muslims have to the time-honoured traditions of the Prophet Muhammad (Peace and Blessings of Allah upon him), by drawing upon the rich legacy and teachings of Islam's classical scholars.

Daar Aisha College is an essential part of the rich fabric of the Australian Muslim community. As such, all learning programs are designed to serve the needs of a broad range of learners, and are specific to the challenges faced by Australian Muslims in the current social and cultural climate.

The Junior Shariah Course is one of the most important courses conducted at Daar Aisha. The course was established in 2005 and has been successfully operating for over a decade.

As a result of our extensive and practical experience in this field, we developed a well-integrated and comprehensive Islamic Studies curriculum incorporating core essential knowledge which is based on traditional Islamic sources with reference to contemporary and relevant issues through weekly lessons, building on core knowledge.

We designed an enjoyable and interactive program specifically for Muslim children living in the West, and is aimed at developing future Moral Muslims living their Islam in the western context with special emphasis on:

- Unveiling and allowing the children to discover the absolute beauty of Islam.
- Connect the children to Allah Most High, and to the Beloved of Allah salaAllahu alaihi wa sallam through the message of Mercy and Love which are the essence of our religion.
- Imbuing the children with the spirit of traditional Islam.
- Assist the children to develop the skills to live in harmony as Muslims in the modern world.
- Develop a moral character based on the Prophetic Model.
- Learn to fulfil their basic religious rites and duties in an informed manner.

- helping them to establish their identity by connecting them to their Islamic heritage enabling them to contribute positively to society at large

COURSE INFORMATION

The curriculum includes learning important values, skills, and attitudes, such as God-consciousness, respect, tolerance, and mercy for all life. It also aims to provide the children with the skills to live and build healthy relationships with others in furthering the common good.

Through this value-based approach, the children grow to realise their full potential and play an active role as Muslims in their communities and wider society

The curriculum is structured into four distinct syllabuses, all aimed at providing the children with a firm foundation in:

1. Quranic studies which include memorization through repetition, and understanding the message in the Surah
2. Islamic knowledge

The Junior Shariah Course is composed of three age-related levels, each level is comprised of 3 years pending age at the time of enrolment.

PARENT PARTICIPATION

Parents are the primary educators and role models for their children. As a parent, you play a key role in your child's intellectual and social development. We work together with formal class-based activities. We keep you updated with weekly posts on their class activities through photos and announcements.

When children see their parents involved in their learning and showing interest, they tend to be more enthusiastic in class and engaging with the content.

Many of the lessons have a practical aspect, it is important for parents to support their child to retain key learning points, and Islamic concepts and manners.

TESTIMONIALS

My daughter and we parents are happy with the Daar Aisha teaching for last few years. Although we are looking forward but Aisha has mentioned that she would miss the Daar Aisha a lot. Thank you for looking after her and inspiring the Islamic knowledge. May Allah reward you here and hereafter.

Despite going to an Islamic School all my life, Daar Aisha has developed in me love for the Prophet and companions in a way I never have. Each lesson I attend encourages me to be a better person. Advice I have received has increased my spiritual quality of life in a way I have never been able to.

“...the teachers teach with great enthusiasm and passion...!”

I started my beautiful spiritual journey of learning and practising Islam with Daar Aisha a year ago. I feel every class at Daar Aisha has helped me progress to a higher spiritual level and made my association to Allah (Most High) stronger and meaningful.

Daar Aisha, Inspiration, tranquil and peace, the feeling of knowing your place in the dunyaa. I call it my ‘fuel for the week’. Keeping me humble and patient. Teachers are engaging and extremely knowledgeable in the topics and beyond.

It changes your perspective, broadens your mind and allows you to appreciate Islam so much more. The teachers are amazing.

Absolute spiritual and intellectual illumination which has had a ripple effect through every aspect of my life.

Daar Aisha has been one of the kindest, most welcoming and most grounding places I’ve ever learnt my deen in. Every single teacher here shines with knowledge and a God conscious willingness to share it. It’s not just a three year syllabus I’ve learnt; but how to conduct myself, the values I want to live by and the people I want to emulate. Thank you for an incredible three years and inshaAllah many more years to come.
